

NEW NOISE COURSES FOR 2019 WITH EARLY BIRD SAVINGS

Find all the answers you need on workplace noise measurement and how to stay HSE compliant when you attend a one-day Noise Awareness Course from Pulsar Instruments.

Noise regulations and a basic understanding of noise theory and noise control is something that employers who are responsible for staff operating in noisy areas of over 80dB(A) need to be aware of.

Pulsar Instruments has releasing three new dates for courses running in 2019. The aim of the course is to raise awareness of noise as a risk, increase safety practitioners' knowledge of how to monitor noise and the current legislation together with encouraging safer behaviours and correct use of hearing PPE.

Next year there will be a greater emphasis on the practical workshop so attendees can come away knowing exactly what to measure, where and how. Attendees will also have an opportunity to look at what to do with the measurements once taken, including how to make HSE compliant reports.

RRC'S NEW ONLINE NEBOSH HSE CERTIFICATE

The NEBOSH HSE Certificate in H&S Leadership Excellence is the result of a second collaboration with the Health & Safety Executive. This NEW NEBOSH qualification is designed to help improve the health and safety leadership in organisations, and as a consequence, the overall safety performance.

RRC ran the first one-day classroom course in July and along with 100% pass rate received really positive feedback from the delegates.

RRC has now launched the course online to meet the rapidly growing worldwide demand. RRC's Dr Jim Phelpstead and Hasan Al Aradi lead learners through the course through a series of video lessons with further reading provided by the official NEBOSH textbook in e-book format. Assessment takes place online throughout the course culminating in an action plan for business improvement. RRC's tutor team supports delegates throughout the course, providing feedback and direction to ensure successful completion of the assessment.

Gary Fallaize, RRC Managing Director commented: "This is an exciting new model from NEBOSH where we can not only deliver the course online, but also manage the assessment online, so there is no need to attend exams. It is always difficult for senior management to take time out of work so the fully online format makes this course very accessible anywhere in the world."
